

executive director

- Lead Australia's community legal sector
- Social justice and human rights focus
- High-level liaison with State and Federal Govt

The National Association of Community Legal Centres (NACLC) is the peak body for 200 Community Legal Centres across Australia that assist disadvantaged and marginalised people obtain access to legal services.

In this hands on role you will promote the community legal sector, oversee the provision of membership services including insurance schemes and self funding programs. You will maintain excellent relationships with Federal and State governments in negotiations for funding and reporting requirements for the Community Legal Sector Program. You will work with various stakeholders to secure vital resources and support for community legal centres. You will also be responsible for commissioning research and leading peer review processes.

Your superior people skills, patience and flexibility will be crucial as you deal with complex issues and myriad stakeholders. Ideally you will have a working understanding of the community legal sector and excellent political astuteness. You will also have a track record in ensuring financial sustainability and will be willing to travel to advance the work of the organisation nationally.

If you want to ensure access to quality legal services for Australia's disadvantaged communities then phone Olivia Ryan on 02 8243 0570 or forward your CV to ngo_36b@ngorecruitment.com

R e c r u i t m e n t
A division of Bradman Recruitment