

Kalumburu Aboriginal Corporation

chief executive officer

- Based in Kalumburu, northernmost settlement in WA
- Partner with Indigenous people

The Kalumburu Aboriginal Corporation (KAC) encourages the local community of 500 Indigenous Australians to manage their own affairs and lands and to keep and renew their traditional culture via the building of trust and friendship. The Corporation supports social and cultural development and encourages business and enterprise opportunities. It's also involved in hands on education, job training, health services and work opportunities. The Corporation also provides the Indigenous Work Scheme, CDEP and operates the Community Store.

In this hands-on but strategic role you will lead the Corporation providing on the ground support. You will work with the Council and Chair, community members and service providers to further develop the contribution and achievements of the community.

Key priorities will be the set up of an office including communication systems, recruitment and management of required staff and oversight of financial matters including management of the community programs funded by external stakeholders.

Your vision of a well resourced and supported people and your proven leadership and governance skills in an indigenous or culturally diverse environment will position you well to maximise opportunities and outcomes.
