

KOLLING FOUNDATION

fundraising ceo

- A salary package designed to attract the very best
- Direct the future for this medical research leader

The Kolling Foundation fundraises primarily for the Kolling Institute, the oldest medical research institute in NSW. The Institute is the centre for biomedical research at the RNS Hospital and represents Molecular Medicine at the University of Sydney. Its goal is to improve human health by tackling a wide range of diseases that affect adults and children.

This role will design and implement a development strategy that will radically expand fundraising activity. Working with a commercial Board you will drive new income by harnessing the support of philanthropists, corporates, community groups, trusts and foundations. You will also ensure all legislative and administrative requirements are met.

You have a track record in a similar function as either a CEO responsible for driving fundraising or a senior fundraiser working at the highest levels. Your mature approach, intellect and demonstrated track record will be key to your success in this role.

If you want to influence the future of this highly respected institution by implementing a best practice fundraising strategy then please call Richard Green on 02 8243 0570 or send your resume to ngo_13@ngorecruitment.com
