

AUSTRALIA PACIFIC

chief executive officer

- Australia's premier environmental leadership role
- Regional influence and responsibility, Sydney based

Greenpeace campaigns globally against environmental abuse by governments and corporations. It champions responsible and socially just solutions including scientific and technical innovations to ensure the earth is able to nurture life in all its diversity.

Reporting to the Board and in co-operation with Greenpeace International you will be in the vanguard of environmentalism while driving organisational strategic development. You will work closely with senior management and 90 national and regional staff and externally with governments and industry.

You are a visionary leader, able to inspire dedicated staff and you believe strongly in the core values of Greenpeace. You have a track record of successful strategic innovation, and of mobilising public engagement with issues. You are ideally a CEO of a values driven organisation with a successful track record in campaigning and income generation. You have a deep understanding of national, regional and global politics as well as the impact and breadth of Climate Change.

If you have the desire to lead a great team of people in the world's most renowned non violent direct action organisation then contact Richard Green on +61 2 8243 0570 or send your CV to cv@ngorecruitment.com
