

major donor manager

- Track record in achieving major gifts or high net wealth sales
- Raise funds to support the world's refugees
- Play a crucial role in an expanding team

Australia for UNHCR (the UN Refugee Agency) raises funds for UNHCR's international humanitarian programs. The organisation provides protection and assistance to refugees and displaced people in more than 115 countries around the world.

The organisation is experiencing a period of growth and this new role has been established to harness support, primarily from individuals, in the form of major gifts. The role will develop relationships with existing donors and introduce new support via stewardship programs and communication strategies.

You have a track record in 'making the ask' resulting in significant donations or sales and you are able to demonstrate strong interpersonal skills. You also provide excellent donor or customer care in a philanthropic environment or corporate setting.

If the plight of the world's refugees concerns you, then please contact Richard Green on 02 8243 0570 or forward your resume to ngo_11@ngorecruitment.com
